4. Rationale

This is an area of increasing interest in the soil science community, as captured by the book 'Soil and Culture' (Eds. Landa and Feller). It is an area of importance for our communication with the wider community. Its broad title means that it can accommodate volunteered papers on topics in the History, Philosophy, Sociology and Artistic aspects of Soil Science.

5. Objectives

To continue the conversation about this interesting and novel area for soil science.

6. Description

The symposium will provide the opportunity for oral and also other kinds of presentations on topics in the History, Philosophy, Sociology and Artistic aspects of Soil Science.
